- 1 they let me come back and finish what i needed to be done and im am thankful for the chances and opportunities i was giving here.
- 2 it will help me in the Law enforcement field. I will have to make decisions and write reports.
- 3 This was revealed to me through my first year learning course, computers, and English class.
- 4 This was a given in class because you had to effectively communicate with the instructor and classmates on a weekly basis.
- 5 This outcome was revealed to me at SBC through my pre requisites classes and my human services classes. An example of the of the ways the outcome assisted me in achieving my educational goals by my human service advisor demonstrating good work ethic and showing us a thorough understanding of what we could be faced professionally.
- 6 This outcome assisted me with achieving my education goals because with nursing, we have to critically think all the time but we also have to apply that to our papers and powerpoint presentations. This helped me with those presentations and papers that I had to do successfully to pass classes effectively.
- 7 This outcome came to me through speech and composition classes. These classes have helped me improve my oral and writing communication greatly. I can speak a little better to groups of people, write a proper letter, and important papers.
- 8 This out come was revealed to me through the many writing assignments I do in my education classes.
- 9 The outcome most people may have achieving there educational goals but most of them had a hard time with it. this was revealed to me to all my classes that I had in SBC
- 10 The outcome of the mock interview revealed that I need to work on answering better about myself when asked questions like "what are your strongest/weakest strengths" and "tell us a little about yourself?"

11	Technical and critical thinking skills were revealed to me through an instructor and assisted me in achieving my educational goals by helping me decide certain things in my classes.
12	Taking speech class and learning different techniques to cope with stress while presenting a speech. My last speech I gave I was calm and was able to present my presentation smoothly
13	Most of my technical skills such as problem solving and adaptability, I picked up in most of my classes.
14	Many of the classes require written assignments, as well as discussions in online forums. This is how critical thinking is displayed from us. The classes also require presentations, so oral skills are displayed, as well.
15	It has helped me learn effective communication & critical thinking for speeches, interviews etc.
16	In the past two years I have gained the knowledge of knowing that education is an ongoing process, much like growing a garden. Many different ingredients are needed to accomplish the desired goal. I have learned that knowledge is the understanding that we don't really know everything about anything and as long as I am able to continue learning my garden will be a success.
17	I've learned writing grammatically in essay, reports, and speeches. Also learned how to use technology, like computer software such as Microsoft office in class for assignments. I learned these by taking speech, comp 1 & 2, and computer applications courses.
18	I observed technical and critical thinking skills with oral and written communication in my Speech class and my Environmental Science class. We had to take notes and communicate with our group members on what data we had.
19	I feel like the time when these skills really helped me were when I was the Student Government President and had to help solve a lot of issue among the student body.
20	I as a student at Sitting Bull College achieved my education goals with the critical thinking skills I learned in classrooms. For example I am a mother of three and most of the time I was working full-time, I as a full time student had to use critical thinking for most of the work given to me outside of class. I had to use my time efficiently and think about the best answer in a short amount of free time.
21	During my time at SBC I have written technical papers and papers that require critical thinking skills. I have also had to demonstrate understanding through presentations I have given to the class.
22	Classes that helped me achieve this outcome were speech, composition, and health class. Having to write essays, giving speeches, and giving PowerPoint presentations helped me a lot along the way. I'm very shy and reserved, so having to do these things, helped bring me out of my shell.
23	Being able to decide and how to achieve the degree I applied for

1	they worked with my work schedule and with my daycare situation.
2	This outcome was revealed to me at SBC through my transitions class and my human service classes. An example would be the transitions class showing us examples of the negative and positive of a workplace and what to do and not to do.
3	This outcome was revealed to me by an instructor and assisted me in achieving my educational goals by helping me become more responsible about when to get my homework done and to respect my peers at SBC.
4	This outcome was revealed to me through helping my classmates if they had any questions about assignments. And through researching assignments that deal with my major in education.
5	Thinking in an ethical, responsible, dependable and respectful manner is very important in nursing and throughout my education it has helped me a lot when applying that to nursing cares.
6	The outcome revealed to me at SBC by providing me with feedback on my interview and what I can do to improve on it for future reference.
7	In my nursing class fundamentals I took on the role of showing a lot of learned skills to the majority of my classmates. When they had a question they would come to me and ask or would want me to demonstrate the skills.
8	I've learned these from instructors here at the college. They showed that they are very professional here at SBC.
9	I think speech helped with this the most. I also think having first year learning helped.
10	I never thought of myself as a leader before attending my nursing classes. Now coming to the end of the my degree plan here at sitting bull i realized if i do not speak up and promote responsible behaviors it will effect others. I may not the president of the clubs but when needed i can speak up. (advocating is a leadership skill i believe in voicing for others who can't speak up)
11	I have accomplished this through being involved in campus club and activities as well as in classroom discussion
12	I have a great deal of respect for the instructors at SBC and have tried to show them that same respect with ethical, responsible and dependable behavior.
13	I had a few classes that were broke down into smaller groups that required a leader. It turns out that I do have leadership skills!
14	I feel like this skill best helped me during the clinical portion of my education. When working in health care is is very important to behave ethically, responsibly, respectfully, and to be dependable.
15	I attended a student council meeting and they displayed good leadership skills. they were very ethical and respectful with their behavior.
16	I am the oldest it seems in every one of my classes and I tend to help others when I can like a mom would do. I work with students all day long at my job, so this was natural for me.
17	I already had this outcome to myself, I been learning more about myself and I been learning most of it in classes that I had and to be honest I mostly learned more when I had Renee class. she really though me a lot.
18	Having to do group projects and having to have assignments in at a certain time help me achieve this outcome. It is your responsibility to get to class and get your homework in on time.
19	Going to class regularly and setting goals to accomplish my tasks at hand. Doing home work in a timely manner
20	Be able to understand the leadership I need to take in achieving my degree and beyond my degree
21	AS a student in a teaching degree, the instructors provide good scenarios and thoughts in how to become an effective mentor. We cover topics of ethics and we are also asked to think about how to deal with stress in certain situations.
22	A lot of teamwork was incorporated in classeork and assignments which gave students the opportunity to form a leadership/followership
23	A class I believed helped me wit this was first year learning class and transitions, graduation and beyond. In first year learning I learned how to manage time, stress, and other various daily activities and in transitions Graduation and beyond I learned about etiquette, proper ways to act and behave in work environment, and responsibility. I believe both these classes are very important and have helped me greatly.

1	there is always someone willing to help or talk to you about what needs to be done.
2	n/a
3	in the work environment I been learning those on my own because I been working sines I was 16 years old, through the whole year I been achieving what I do in life and to help myself to reach my education goals.
4	i would say I learned these by doing group work within classes.
5	Working in an academic environment, unlike the ranching industry, greatly increased my ability to work with others. Getting along with classmates, whether in class or on the occasional group project, gave me insight into just how important each persons opinion can be when achieving an objective.
6	When you come to class, you are expected to get your assignments done that are expected of you and this helps with getting you ready for your tasks at your future work place. You will be prepared to get things done.
7	Wayne Shelley taught me with my work ethic. His classes require it.
8	This was revealed to me at SBC through assignments and projects I have had to do by myself and with others. I have worked with others who have different beliefs and points of view. I was able to work successfully with others.
9	This was another skill revealed to me during clinicals. Though we were there together with our instructors, we had to working independently with our patients and give them the best care possible.
10	This outcome was revealed to me at SBC through our instructors showing us how to work independently professionally. An example would be each instructor being an advisor in one of the programs.
11	This outcome was revealed to me by an instructor and assisted me in achieving my educational goals by teaching me what to expect when I get a job after I get my degree.
12	This outcome was revealed to me through many of my courses. I've learned about diverse work environments and how to be successful in them.
13	The outcome taught me how to communicate better with others and give my input by being involved in discussion boards.
14	The class transitions, graduation, and beyond helped greatly in learning this outcome. It has taught me the proper ways to prepare and act to in a work environment, how to prepare and do a resume.
15	Many different people & cultures are discussed in CJ & you have to be able to work with people in diverse cultures which we learned about
16	In my transitions class, we cover work ethics and most of my classes beyond this we cover diversity. However, most of my skills come from actually working with various groups of people as a volunteer leader. I would work with groups with various backgrounds, who'd fly in from other states, and the experience was useful.
17	I work well with others and I have come to understand that in order to seek good outcomes in my work environment
18	I was attending classes and working with people of different ages and backgrounds. I am prepared to work with anybody.
19	I think the transitions class helped because we did resumes and soon to be doing interviews that will help get jobs in the future.
20	I learned the value of communication and how important it is to communicate to our instructors.
21	I furthered my work ethics further by keeping good attendance in classes and actually participated in activities as necessary.
22	Having the responsibility of making it to class helped me achieve this outcome. One class that really helped me for this outcome was intro to computers. We worked at our own pace, but also had to make sure our work was in on time.
23	At SBC, I've had to work with a very diverse group of people and environments. It has equipped me to adapt to that in the classroom and prepared me for that in the future.

1	this is something i don't believe i learned or furthered my education in at sitting bull college. i do appreciate my culture and respect others in the cultural belief. i do appreciate that the required allowed me to learn basic about the language i do not speak.
2	n/a
3	i fell behind last semester was about to drop out again but they worked with me and i made it through.
4	This outcome was revealed for me at SBC through having us take Native American language and culture classes. I learned how to speak some of the Lakota language in my language class.
5	This outcome was revealed to me by an instructor and assisted my educational goals by giving me a better understanding of my Native American cultures that I didn't know of before.
6	This outcome really helped me to understand myself, my fellow students, and those in my community. In healthcare and in the leadership positions that I have held here at SBC, this had been the most helpful outcome to have learned.
7	This outcome was revealed to me in all of my courses. I had to incorporate it into lesson plans and take the language classes.
8	This outcome was revealed to me at SBC through my language and culture courses. I have learned so much through these courses, more than I have from my own family. It was really awesome to learn more about where I come from. I have also learned valuable knowledge that I can use when I am teaching.
9	This outcome came to me through all the available Native American class, art events put on by Jen at the visitors center, and the culture club.
10	The majority, if not all, of my classes incorporate culture in some way, mostly through language use. In my teaching classes, I am expected to incorporate my culture into my lesson plans, so understanding and appreciation of Native American culture exists, especially when I am a Native American.
11	The instructors for every class has taken a moment to recognize the culture importance and combined it with their class work.
12	Outstanding! I grew up watching "Cowboy and Indian" shows on TV. I had never taken the time to research the atrocities that were committed against the indigenous people by the federal government.
13	I was required to take Lakota Language and I was great at it because I loved this class.
14	I took a lakota class last year which was fun to learn but hard to keep in my mind a year later. I also took a Native American Studies class that helped me learn the government/
15	I took a Native American History class that I loved. The class was interesting and very informative.
16	I learned a lot I didn't know about my cuture & the language that I never knew

17	I know my cultural as a Dine woman but when I came up here in ND and learning about there cultures, it was hard for me to understood it. but I been learning little bit more about the culture here and I really enjoy it.
18	I have learned some of my cultural virtues, however it was hard to have the language stick in my brain. I like how the school includes our native values and everything we do.
19	I gained a better understanding of my own culture by learning more of my language and learning things that I never knew about or was never taught and a greater appreciation for it all.
20	I appreciate the native American History that is being taught to us by Mr. Moore. He is very ethical ad respectful and truthful in his teachings about the Native American culture and history.
21	Coming from Florida with no history of any type of native american background or knowledge, I learned a lot about the culture and appreciate it a lot. I didnt know anything about it before at all, and my husband is native american. So it really gave me a different perspective on it.
22	By learning about my culture I have come to love and live by it.
23	All of my Native American classes I took helped me achieve this outcome. I learned so much about my language and culture. I just wanted to learn more and more! The classes made me appreciate who I am and where I come from a lot more.
